Healthy Active Sustainable Livable

The image shows a grid of 12 small photographs illustrating various aspects of community planning, such as natural landscapes, people, and built environments, categorized under the four pillars: Healthy, Active, Sustainable, and Livable.

Our built environment impacts the health of our natural environment and the health of our people. The Hawai'i Congress of Planning Officials 2011 will bring together individuals and organizations from across Hawai'i to explore how we can plan for and support healthy and livable communities.

Learn from national experts! Our featured speakers include:

Dan Burden	Executive Director of Walkable Communities
Jim Charlier	President of Charlier Associates
Christopher Duerksen	Managing Director of Clarion Associates
Ben Herman	Principal, Clarion Associates
Gary Toth	Dir. Transportation Initiatives for the Project for Public Spaces

Attend breakout sessions and workshops from four tracts:

1. Sustainable Agriculture, Land Use, and Self-sufficiency – Examine the latest issues surrounding the preservation of agricultural lands and self-sufficiency.
2. Healthy Environment, Sustainable Communities – Explore the relationship between public health, the built environment and our natural environment.
